5. CONFLICT OF INTEREST

We have adopted a Conflict of Interest Policy that is available on our website and on request.

Artemisia Markets is remunerated by a commission charged by reference to the volume traded on your account, together with the fees set out in our fee schedule. Artemisia Markets applies no mark-up to the spread it receives from its liquidity providers, and does not share in any mark-up applied by any other person.

Artemisia Markets does not own more than 10% of any product provider.

Artemisia Markets acts as intermediary in respect of products provided by a single product supplier, Hogg Capital Investments Limited, and its remuneration for intermediary services therefore arises in connection with that relationship. This is disclosed to you so that you may assess it in deciding whether to transact with us. It does not affect the terms on which your orders are executed: we apply no mark-up to the price quoted to you and take no position against you.

Risk Disclaimer: OTC leveraged products, including CFDs, are complex investments, which come with a high risk of losing money rapidly due to leverage. You acknowledge that trading derivative financial instruments, including foreign exchange, futures, options, contracts for differences and commodities carry a substantial potential risk of loss and you understand the risks involved and that you are willing to undertake this risk. You further confirm your understanding that the value of these financial instruments is influenced by the price changes of their underlying reference instruments, that these prices may fluctuate both rapidly and widely, that such factors can be neither predicted nor controlled by any party, and that leverage, or "gearing" will disproportionately impact the results of any such transactions. Losses can therefore quickly compound. You will be responsible to ensure your account has sufficient margin to sustain your trading activity. You should consider carefully whether you understand how CFDs work and whether you can afford to take the high risk of losing your money.
